FOUR CENTS

ATTACK ON CASSINO LAUNCHED BY ALLIES

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

Not so long ago, the library here made an appeal for old copies of "Life" magazine to complete its 1942 and 1941 files.

Well, people came through, some from as far away as Cincinnati, to send back copies to fill in the gaps. All the holes in the 1942 files are filled now, thanks to those Fayette Countians who dug down into the dusty piles of magazines in their cellars and attics.

There are still four magazines missing for the 1941 files, however. They are March 3, April 28, June 16 and May 19. So, if you haven't already done it, look through your old magazines to see whether or not one of those four issues are hidden there. And if you have made a search, do it again.

Back issues of magazines are needed frequently by library patrons who can't keep up the complete files of magazines they take for themselves. Miss Elizabeth Johnson and the rest of the library staff believe these "Life" magazines will provide a mine of pictorial and written information in the years to come when people will want to see what happened during the war years.

Some of my former friends tell me that there is an unusually large number of pheasants which passed through the hunting season last fall, due partly to the fact that there were more of them and that hunters were not so numerous as in previous years.

The pheasant population in Fayette County has been on the increase for years, thanks to the good work of the Conservation Commission which has sent many birds into this county and distributed large numbers of eggs to be hatched on farms here and the watchfulness of the Conservation officials.

Many of you probably do not know that the Chinese ring-necked pheasants were first introduced in the United States and Canada in 1880 and that pheasants have been inhabiting the county for nearly a half century.

It was many years after they were first introduced in the county before there was any material increase in numbers, due to promiscuous killing of the birds, even though there was no open season on them for years.

Valentines may come and go but here's a prediction that 43 servicemen and one army nurse won't forget the cookies sent them by a Sunday school group of the First Presbyterian Church here.

The M. H. G. class sponsored the project and, with the help of other Sunday school classes, baked and boxed cookies to be sent to every serviceman and woman from the church still in the United States. The 44 other servicemen, either already overseas or in transit, won't get cookies—government regulations forbid sending packages unless they're requested—but each of those boys will have a letter from the Sunday school soon.

Mrs. C. S. Kelley, Mrs. Ilo Mark and Mrs. Frank Wean are the committee around which sending the valentine boxes revolves.

BRICKER DEMANDS

FDR TELL OF PLANS

Military Leaders Should Run War, He Says

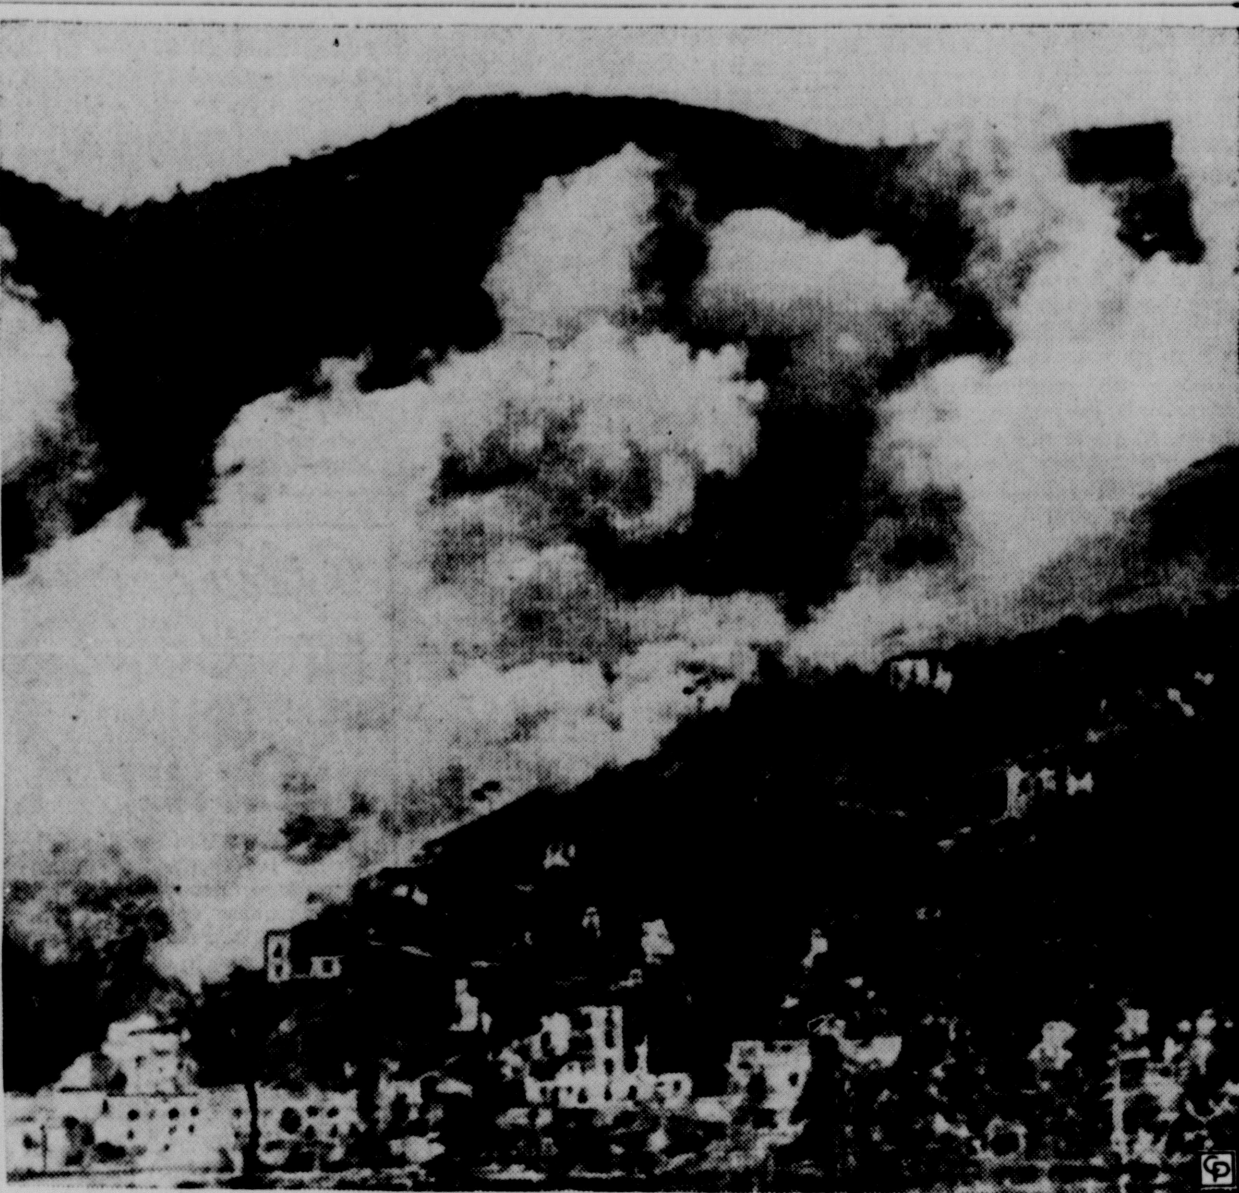

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio says the war effort would be improved by a "change in administration with the war's conduct placed squarely in the hands of military leaders."

He also told members of the Ohio Valley Board of Trade at their annual meeting here last night that "it is President Roosevelt's duty to make known his intentions regarding a fourth term."

"And as we are fighting to maintain self-government," he continued, "it is President Roosevelt's duty to give the people a fuller insight into the war's development."

Bricker declared the greatest discouragement for the future existed in the fear of the people "that the burdens of government may not be lessened when the war is won and that bureaucracy will not be curbed."

NEW WAVE OF FEAR IN MINE TOWN AS EARTH OPENS AGAIN

Little Girl Caught in Cave-in Only Week Ago

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 15.—(AP)—A new wave of fear swept this anthracite city of 18,000 today after two yawning holes opened in the earth and a "squeeze" caused by the sagging of mine pillars, threatened to sink the ground from under large residential areas.

Mine experts said the squeeze might portend a general weakening of tunnel supports and a wholesale cave-in.

Mayor John J. Reilly and city and state legislators arranged a hurried trip to the Pennsylvania state capitol at Harrisburg to ask the state bureau of mines for help, possibly in flooding abandoned tunnels.

Sections of the city were roped off temporarily yesterday after new cracks appeared, one a few feet from the spot where Julie Ann Fulmer, 2, was swallowed alive when the earth gave away under her feet last week.

The other occurred in an area where 150 homes were damaged a year ago when the earth's surface dropped six to eight feet, below its normal level.

UNION ORGANIZER SHOT BY OHIO FURNACE WORKER

JACKSON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A furnace worker was detained for questioning today in the fatal shooting of Victor S. Delano, 34, of Bellair, a United Mine Workers' district organizer, Patrolman Carl McClain reported.

Delano was shot here last night as he left a labor meeting where he had addressed furnace workers. He died enroute to a hospital.

Blockade of Germany Tightened By Allies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox reported today that the British have clamped an embargo on shipping through the Bay of Biscay that will be a major step toward halting completely any movement of supplies into Germany.

"It will reduce to a minimum and eventually eliminate transport of goods to Germany through France," he said.

Japs Prepare For Worst As Defeats Hit Morale

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Japanese students are digging slit trenches against air raids in all large cities, the rationing of food and wine has been tightened and arrests for "dangerous thoughts" are increasing in Japan, a Chinese graduate of the Imperial University of Tokyo said today on his arrival in Chungking.

The student named Yin Tso was sent to Tokyo by the puppet government of Manchuria. He graduated last summer, went to Peiping and then escaped to Chungking.

He said the attitude of the Japanese people toward the war varied from high optimism during the Axis successes to dark despondency over defeats. Japanese reverses in the Solomons hurt morale and the losses of Attu and Kiska in the Aleutians were exceptionally severe blows, he said.

SENSATION PROMISED IN MURDER MYSTERY

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Police Capt. Frank J. Reynolds told reporters today he expected to have an announcement "that will knock your eyes out" in connection with the slaying in the Drake Hotel January 19 of Mrs. Frank Starr Williams, wife of a State Department attaché.

The captain, whose Chicago Avenue district was the locale of the mystery, said investigators were working on a sex angle and that while this might not have been the motive it provided a clue to the motive, the nature of which he declined to divulge.

Assurance Given by Russia That Soviet Has No Drastic Designs on Finnish Territory But That Red Forces Want To Use All Sea and Air Bases and Communication Facilities—Negotiations on in Stockholm

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Soviet Russia was reported today to have advised Finland that she has no drastic designs upon Finnish territory but that if the Finns want peace they must surrender unconditionally and grant Russian forces use of all their sea and air bases as well as internal communications facilities.

The London News-Chronicle in a dispatch from Stockholm said these terms had been "intimated unofficially" to Finnish leaders who arrived recently in the Swedish capital, presumably to sound out the Russians on the subject of peace.

Walter Farr, Stockholm correspondent of the London Daily Mail, declared:

"The impression I get is that Finland will be out of the war in a matter of weeks and possibly days."

There was no confirmation of these reports, however, and neither Helsinki nor Moscow gave any intimation contact had been established as a basis for negotiations.

In fact Helsinki dispatches, passed by Finnish censors, said there was no official indication the government had asked for Russia's terms or was even ready to do so.

It was clear, however, the Finnish majority party—the Social Democrats—was putting strong pressure on the government and there were intimations the issue might precipitate a cabinet shake-up.

A summary of purely unofficial reports gave this picture of the terms the Russians were said to have conveyed to the Finns:

(1)—Finland to surrender unconditionally, to disarm and surrender all arms and equipment to Russia.

(2)—Finland to permit Soviet occupation of her chief cities, railway centers and air and sea

WILLKIE ENTERS PRESIDENT RACE

Unsuccessful Candidate of 1940 After GOP Nomination

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Wendell Willkie last night formally announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination and selected Ralph H. Calkins, Oregon's GOP national committeeman, as his pre-convention campaign manager.

The 1940 party nominee said at a press conference the Republicans can win the 1944 presidential election only by offering proof to the electorate through its candidate and its platform that:

1. The United States can more effectively fight the war with a Republican instead of a Democrat as its chief executive.

2. The Republican party has a more comprehensive understanding than the Democrats of America's post-war social and economic adjustments and responsibilities.

3. The GOP's interest in the understanding of the United States' role in world cooperation is stronger and deeper than that of the Democrats.

Willkie added such a three-point program "must not be a mere cloak put on for political and campaign purposes but a deep and abiding belief" which must be carried by the party's presidential candidate.

'AIR FREIGHT CARS' WILL SUPPLY CHINA

NEW DELHI, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, commander of U. S. Air Forces in southeast Asia, declared today, "we will have some armored freight cars of the air in this theater very soon."

"The plan for giant transports is all set," he said in an interview. "In fact, it is far beyond the planning stage. These big new air transports will fly from India to China over new routes carrying far larger pay loads at higher speed, and equipped with enough armament to defend themselves."

Reds To Join Bombing Of Germany Now That Drive Nearing Borders

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—With the Russian front pushed as close to Berlin from the east as the English Channel is from the west, the Red air force is coming into position and strength to take over its share of ruining the Reich with bombs.

Soviet air experts are known to have made a close study of the American style of strategic air bombing, and may pattern Russian long-range raiding after the Fortress-Liberator tactics.

Another Island Seized From Japs In Pacific To Tighten Supply Line

By MORRIS LANDSBERG

(By The Associated Press)

The steadily improved position of the United Nations in the Southwest Pacific was enhanced further today by American occupation of a small but strategic island between New Guinea and New Britain.

In contrast with earlier battles for enemy territory, U. S. troops seized Rooke (Umboi) Island unopposed Saturday to complete Allied domination of both Vitiaz and Dampier Straits along the vital supply line for the Bismarck Archipelago.

Japanese airmen attacked American positions at Cape Gloucester and Arawe, New Britain; Tokorina, Bougainville; and, for the first time since the Central Pacific campaign, struck at Roi Island of captured Kwajalein Atoll in the Marshalls. Damage and casualties generally were reported as light.

The enemy, possibly to save its aircraft for major defense operations, showed scant opposition to Allied raids on Nipponese bases in the Southwest and Central Pacific.

More than 200 Allied planes fought through a curtain of aerial interceptors and intense anti-aircraft fire to dump an additional 179 tons of bombs on three air-dromes at Rabaul, New Britain. The raiders lost three aircraft to seven for the Japanese.

Two enemy planes were smashed on the ground in a 147-ton assault on Kavieng, New Ireland, which drew not a single enemy fighter into the air. Seven more parked aircraft were destroyed

U. S. SUBMARINE BASE, Groton, Conn., Feb. 15.—(AP)—About the only difference between a couple of men attending the submarine school here is that one comes from Arkansas City, Kans., and the other from White Deer Valley, Pa.

Each is named Donald Lee Smith. Each was born August 3. Each is a seaman, second class. The father of each is named H. L. Smith.

But, says the navy, each gets his own duds back from the laundry, White Deer Valley Smith hasn't yet received any mail from Arkansas City Smith's girl nor has either Smith had to take the other's typhoid shot.

YANK FLIERS BUSY IN INDO-CHINA AREA

CHUNGKING, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Pilots of the U. S. 14th Airforce, ranging over targets in the French Indo-China area, have sunk or damaged 22,000 tons of Japanese shipping, including one 10,400-ton transport, a communiqué announced today.

Intercepting 25 enemy fighters Feb. 12 on their way to attack a forward American base, Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's airmen shot down seven, probably destroyed seven, and damaged one. Two Allied craft were lost, but their pilots saved.

From advanced bases made available by the westward surge of the Red army, new models could reach anywhere into the Reich.

The most important targets would be industries Hitler has built up in eastern Germany and Czechoslovakia, farthest from British bases.

The Daily Herald said today the recent heavy raids on Finland probably presaged a new day of bombing from the east, with Hungary a likely target on Stalin's list.

ROOSEVELT PRAISED BY POLITICAL FOE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 15.—(AP)—U. S. Senator William Langer of North Dakota, in a speech last night, praised President Roosevelt as "one of the greatest men who ever sat in the White House."

But, he added, "it is a pity that he has not been able to bring about a change in the administration and concluded 'the sooner a change is made the better.'"

"Mr. Roosevelt is going back into the White House in 1945 unless the Republicans do something about it," Langer asserted.

NATIONAL CEMETERY FOR EVERY STATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Each state will have at least one national cemetery for burial of its war dead under a War Department program disclosed today by the House Appropriations committee in reporting an $86,911,440 supply bill for the department's civil functions in 1945.

"It will be necessary in the not distant future to provide additional burial areas for the interment of the remains of soldiers," the committee said in reference to a $1,224,000 allotment for cemetery expenses. "The war adds materially to the cost of this function and the cost, obviously, is unpredictable."

MONASTERY HIT WHEN NAZIS USE IT AS KEY FORT

Pressure on Allies Caught
In Pocket Continues—Reds
Kill Germans in Trap

(By The Associated Press)

Scores of American Flying Fortresses poured salvos of heavy bombs across the peak of Mt. Cassino early today, some squarely hitting the famous Benedictine Monastery converted by the Germans into a fortress.

High explosives from at least two strings of bombs smashed directly on the roof of the sturdy old abbey, founded in 529 A. D. by St. Benedict.

Allied ground forces poured heavy fire into Germans who fled the Benedictine Monastery atop Mt. Cassino today after it was bombed by Flying Fortresses, 300 Germans were caught in artillery fire, a military spokesman here said.

At the first explosion from the air bombs about a hundred Germans ran out of the monastery and were raked with fire.

After the second attack 200 Germans made a break for fresh cover but were caught in artillery fire.

The Fifth Army has fought for nearly two weeks to seize the town of Cassino and the rocky peaks around the abbey without damaging the old monastery.

But the slopes of Monastery Hill have been honey-combed with German machine-gun nests and sniper positions, and Allied officers asserted the enemy has been using the monastery itself for machine-gun posts and artillery observation, and also as a cover for Germans defending the hill.

German use of the monastery undoubtedly has brought death to Allied soldiers, and Allied officers said lives of more soldiers would be saved by removal of the monastery as a dominating point of the battlefield.

Many of the relics stored in the buildings are believed to have been removed to Rome, and perhaps other safekeeping places.

Nazi troops had taken up positions there, Allied headquarters declared, to send murderous fire against U. S. troops assaulting the hill overlooking the town of Cassino.

Smoke poured from the roof of the abbey itself, and the earth-shaking bombs sent up great plumes of gray and black smoke.

The British radio, in a broadcast heard by CBS, said "100 Flying Fortresses flew over the peak of Mt. Cassino and pounded German positions there."

The German communiqué broadcast by Berlin said Mt. Cassino abbey was bombed "although no German soldiers were either in the monastery or the vicinity. Heavy damage was caused."

Monastery Nazi Fort
Allied headquarters declared the Germans had converted the famous monastery, dating from 529 A. D., into a fortress, and yesterday leaflet-bearing shells were fired over the abbey walls.

GAS SHORTAGE CONTINUES WITH COLD WEATHER

No Serious Hardship Is Reported Here Because of Curtailed Service

Forecast of continued cold weather today halted plans of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to restore normal gas service to all of the approximately 150 industries whose fuel supplies were shut off Sunday because of a gas shortage, according to word reaching here from the company's Columbus office.

Although Washington, C. H., was listed as one of the cities in the area affected by the shortage, there have been no reports of any serious hardships resulting from curtailed service.

Whether there had been any reduction in gas pressure here and whether there would be any compulsory restrictions on gas use in the hundreds of homes in the city where gas is used for cooking and heating remained conjectural. F. E. Hill, manager of the Dayton Power and Light Co. here, was out of the city and unavailable for comment or explanations.

For months, however, the D. P. & L. has been urging gas conservation here and Hill has warned of a possibility of enforced reduction in service if use were not voluntarily curtailed.

The emergency probably will continue throughout this week, Ohio Fuel Gas Company officials said, although some industries received gas again yesterday when the mercury climbed to above freezing from the below-zero readings of the day before.

The company, which serves most of Ohio except the north-east section, asked individual consumers to shut off water heaters and cook only one hot dish a day to conserve gas.

M. K. Hager of the War Production Board's natural gas division came here from Washington and allotted limited fuel supplies to some war plants for production of critical materials. Thousands of workers were made idle by the service curtailments.

The weather bureau predicted a temperature drop to about 20 degrees above zero by tomorrow morning.

Snow covered the state from two to nine inches deep.

Agriculture experts said the snow was worth millions of dollars to Ohio farmers whose crop prospects had been threatened by a winter-long drought.

The mercury rose as high as 36 degrees yesterday at Cincinnati, 35 at Columbus and 32 at Cleveland, turning the snow into slush.

Columbus reported the heaviest snowfall in the state—five inches, making a total of nine since Saturday.

SENIOR BOYS MAY BE NAVY RADIOMEN

Radio Technicians Needed Now, Recruiters Say

WHS senior boys have a chance now to enlist in the Navy as radio technicians. Needed now, the 17-year-olds will be given the Eddy test and, if they pass, they will be assigned a rating of seaman 1-C. After enlisting, boys may finish their senior year in high school.

"This radio course, if it were available to civilians, is one very few boys could afford to take," Recruiter William Porter said. "Don't wait until this course closes, act now. It's a real opportunity for any 17 year old boy," he said.

Navy recruiters will be at the post office building here on Wednesday. More information about the radio technicians course may be had from the U. S. Navy Recruiting Office in the Post Office Building, Chillicothe.

MISS DIANNA SAXTON FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Miss Dianna Saxton, a lifelong resident of Washington C. H. who died here Monday morning after a long illness, will be held at the Klever Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Friends may call there any time.

Miss Saxton, the last of her immediate family once so prominent in the community, leaves a large circle of more distant relatives. Her closest of kin are nieces and nephews: Dr. Guy B. Saxton of Toledo; Faye Sever, Mrs. Glenn Roman; Mrs. Helen Aldrich and Mrs. Dianna Swayze, all of Detroit; Mrs. Mary Mark, city; Mrs. Florence Inskip of Xenia and Mrs. Dorothy Groseloc of Blacksburg, Va.

Rev. George B. Parkin, pastor of Grace Church of which Miss Saxton was a member, will be in charge of the services. Burial is to be in the family lot in the Washington Cemetery.

MISS MARY B. ROWE FUNERAL SERVICES

Funeral services for Miss Mary B. Rowe, held at the Klever Funeral Home Monday at 2 P. M., were attended by close friends and relatives, and Rev. George B. Parkin conducted the services, paying a lovely tribute to Miss Rowe and her 38 years as a public school teacher.

Mrs. Annette Rowe read a memoir which she had also prepared.

Mrs. Florence Bethards and Mrs. George Pleasant sang, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Going Down the Valley."

Mrs. Omar Sturgeon being at the piano.

Burial was made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Robert and Russell Garringer, John Morgan, Loren Haynes, Howard Fogle and Earl Grove.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD VOTED WHS BAND

Music War Council of America Votes Citation for Patriotic Service

Washington High School's band has been voted a Music War Council distinguished service citation by the Music War Council of America, it is announced today.

A national award, the citation is intended "to honor those musical organizations whose wartime activities in support of the war effort have been particularly outstanding." Howard C. Fisher, executive secretary of the council wrote to A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools.

Discussing the award, which "kinda surprised" him, Paul Fitzwater, director of the band, said: "It doesn't seem that we have done so much because it's been stretched out over a year or so. But when you bunch them all together, it seems like a lot."

WHS band has been on hand for nearly every patriotic function in the county. It plays for Memorial Day, Armistice Day and Fourth of July celebrations every year. The band made music for a Navy recruiting program and for a Red Cross meeting. Each of the between-half shows at home football games featured a patriotic theme. Send-off for men inducted into the army and the county fair are also counted in the band's list of activities.

Bond and stamp sales at the high school—totaling more than $20,000 now—are sponsored by the band in between playing engagements and classes.

"Music is doing its part well to help speed the day of Victory, providing fitting send-offs for armed forces inductees, cheering the men and women in the service of our country, stimulating war bond purchases, relieving war workers' strained nerves and generally building and maintaining morale at home and abroad."

"The patriotic musical activities of your band has spread its fame beyond the confines of your community. The organization's members had no thought of reward for their wartime service to the community and the nation but their record cannot go unnoticed. We wish we could congratulate each other personally, but since we cannot we hope you will do it for us," Fischer's letter to Murray continued.

The citation will not be mailed here until arrangements are complete for a presentation ceremony, Murray said.

CLAIMS HORSE LOST FROM HIS TRUCK

A resident of Kentucky, who was hauling horses from Columbus to some point in Kentucky, reported the loss of one of the horses along U. S. 62 between this city and Hillsboro, a night or two ago.

He had reached Hillsboro when he missed the horse and retraced looking for the animal, but could not locate it, he told Sheriff W. H. Icenhower. The truck driver could not give a description of the missing horse.

The earth shook as giant bombs fell on the peak, some of them on the abbey itself.

WAR LOAN DRIVE EXTENDED WHEN COUNTY FAILING

Two More Weeks Granted To Meet Moral Obligation To Fighting Men

The people of Fayette County are to be given two more weeks—until the end of the month—to meet their moral obligation to their country and the nearly 2,000 fighting men and women who have taken up arms to defend it.

They failed to meet that obligation in the Fourth War Loan campaign which was to come to an end Wednesday and word has gone out from the office of F. E. Hill, chairman of the county's War Finance Committee, to the sub-chairman of the campaign committee that more time would be granted to reach the goal that had been set. Hill was out of the city and could not be reached for comment. What plans the committee has for stepping up the campaign were not disclosed.

Fayette Counties were asked to loan the government $906,000 through the purchase of extra War Bonds during the drive just ending to back the attack of the country's fighting men who have offered to give their lives in the war against aggression.

With the end of the drive in sight, Fayette Counties bought only $583,124 worth of War Bonds on the basis of reports now in the hands of the central committee. It was considered possible that some few sales have not yet been reported and also that some sales might be made during the closing hours of the campaign, but not even the most optimistic expected these would put the county "over the top."

sino Monastery. The Germans know how to benefit from this. But now the fighting has swept closer and closer to its sacred precincts. The time has come when we must train our guns on the monastery itself.

"We give you warning so that you may save yourselves. We warn you urgently: Leave the monastery. Leave it at once. Respect this warning. It is for your benefit."

Indicative of the bloody fighting in the Cassino sector, 240 German dead were found in the Mt. Castellone area north of Cassino. The Germans yesterday asked for a three-hour truce in order to bury their dead.

Beachhead Battle

"Pressure was maintained against the enemy on the main Fifth Army front and on the beachhead," the Allied communique said. The beach battle had passed its second crisis and the Americans and Britons were being braced for the next expected German blow. The inconclusive fighting inside Cassino rounded out its second week after the Germans had been allowed a

Capture of Pskov would cut off from retreat German forces in the Lake Ilmen-Staraya Russa sector and would give the Russians a base for operations to clear the Germans from the Baltic states.

Moscow dispatches said the Germans evidently intended to hold Pskov at all costs and were fortifying all villages, blowing up bridges and mining the roads in the path of the Red Army advance.

German broadcasts admitted Russian pressure against Pskov was "increasing hourly," that Vitebsk, in upper White Russia, was under constant Russian artillery fire and that Red Army troops were attacking southwest of Krivoi Rog, iron city 150 miles below the Cherkassy pocket.

Berlin also asserted that Luga, which fell into Russian hands on Sunday, was abandoned without a fight in order to shorten Axis lines. Moscow, however, declared it was taken by storm and said enormous war stocks were captured.

The only German successes were against the ill-equipped peasant army of Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia. The rail town of Koprivnica, 10 miles from Hungary, fell to the Germans.

American medium bombers and RAF fighters again attacked northern France.

With the hour of invasion of western Europe approaching, Nazi Field Marshal von Rundstedt declared in an interview broadcast by Berlin radio that the German "Atlantic Wall" could not be outflanked. He declared, "I look forward calmly to coming events."

A small German counterattack below Rome was repulsed.

Bombers struck rail targets in northern Italy, hit railways at Perugia and the port of Leghorn and attacked Dalmatian shipping. The Germans flew only 60 sorties yesterday and lost 21 planes to one Allied craft lost.

Eight Army patrols were active on the Adriatic, but the main body of troops was hampered by floods and snow.

The Vatican announced that three-hour truce yesterday to remove 200 of their corpses.

Finland moved toward surrender, Russian terms, probably under discussion in Stockholm, were said to have included the demand that Finland guarantee that the seven Nazi divisions in Finland not be permitted to escape; that Finland cede the Arctic port of Petsamo; that Finland surrender unconditionally, disarm and turn over all military equipment to Russia; that Russia occupy Finland's chief cities, rail centers and bases for the duration.

Chances of agreement were said in Washington to be fairly good.

Reds Slaughter Nazis

Russia went about the more immediate business of killing Germans and liberating her land. The Korsun coffin of the German Eighth Army was squeezed to 64 square miles and the core of resistance, the city of Korsun, was captured. The Russians killed 3,000 in and around the trap.

Tens of thousands of weary, hungry Germans, remnants of 10 crack divisions trapped in the Cherkassy death ring 12 days ago, fought desperately today to escape annihilation as Russian forces closed in relentlessly after seizing Korsun, core of the enemy's resistance.

German relief forces made a desperate attempt to succor their encircled comrades, but apparently were stopped with severe losses after driving a "slight wedge" into the Soviet cordon.

A Russian communique said at least 2,000 Nazis were killed and 73 tanks and 23 self-propelled guns destroyed or captured in the abortive attack, which was launched from enemy lines northwest of Zvenigorodka, 25 miles southwest of Korsun.

In storming Korsun, the Russians said they killed 1,000 Nazis, isolated another enemy unit and reduced the German position to an area of about 64 square miles on both sides of the Roas River between Korsun and the town of Steblev, eight miles to the west.

Reds Near Baltic Key

On the Baltic front other Red army forces were within 40 miles of Pskov, key to the Baltic states and western anchor of a German salient extending to Staraya Russa, 110 miles to the east. The Russians were sweeping south on a 70-mile-wide front between Luga and Lake Piepus, Moscow said, and captured several more towns yesterday to add to the 2,000 square miles of territory already liberated in their six-day drive.

Capture of Pskov would cut off from retreat German forces in the Lake Ilmen-Staraya Russa sector and would give the Russians a base for operations to clear the Germans from the Baltic states.

Moscow dispatches said the Germans evidently intended to hold Pskov at all costs and were fortifying all villages, blowing up bridges and mining the roads in the path of the Red Army advance.

German broadcasts admitted Russian pressure against Pskov was "increasing hourly," that Vi-

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Russia's reported indication that she has no harsh designs on Finnish territory in the making of peace terms—though Moscow expects unconditional surrender and use of Finland as a military base—fits the Soviet attitude at the time of the conference of the Big Three at Teheran.

I was told by a high source soon after the conference that this was the position. However, the Muscovite temper towards Helsinki patently hasn't improved. Terms now aren't likely to be as easy as they would have been then, and protraction of the war will add to their severity.

Probably one of the greatest barriers to mild conditions from Moscow is an individual—Field Marshal Baron Gustaf Mannerheim, who is grand old man to the Finns but bete noire to the Communists. This 75-year-old demagogue is not only commander-in-chief but the most powerful influence in his country.

The once dashing baron has been the bitter foe of Communism from its birth. It was he who, fresh from the glitter of the Czarist Court, led the Finns in successful revolt against the Bolsheviks in 1918. Then, in white uniform and astride a white charger, he rode through Helsinki to assume dictatorship until a president was elected. Since then he has been the man behind the gun.

The Marshal led the Finns against Russia in 1939-40, and has headed the show since Finland ranged herself alongside Germany in the present conflict. He got the credit for this alliance with the world's number one enemy, and now Moscow is going to have difficulty in seeing past the shiny Hitlerian medals on Mannerheim's chest.

A blunt man, and quick on the trigger, is Lt. Gen. Joseph (Uncle Joe) W. Stilwell, commander-in-chief of United States forces in China, Burma and India, and he has given speedy reply to the statement by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, C-in-C of the United States Pacific Fleet, that the latter's aim is to get the forces under his command moving across the Pacific and setting up bases in China. Says the general:

"To accomplish such a mission, naval action must be supported heavily by an aggressive land and air offensive projected from the interior. This we intend to do in spite of the existing blockade."

At present, however, China is totally dependent on air transport, and the need is immediate for a continued increase of supplies. Vital China-based air operations cannot wait for penetration of the blockade by land or sea.

Some observers interpret the general's statement as indicating fear that he may suffer for equipment because of the naval effort. Be that as may, Uncle Joe knows what he wants and goes after it. I met him in China just over a year ago when he was performing miracles of transportation with a handful of planes. Since then he has received more, of course, but he can't get too many.

China's military effort and home-front maintenance are almost entirely dependent on Stilwell's airplanes for foreign supplies. And since the Japs occupy most of the manufacturing area, virtually all the war material must come from the outside world.

Just think of one of the big four nations being mainly dependent on a few transport planes to enable her to defend herself, to say nothing of make offensives! China's position is serious. She needs supplies, and needs 'em fast. But for General Stilwell's transports and Major General Claire L. Chennault's Grand 14th Airforce, she likely would have been knocked out of the war before this. Where would the Allies

SPECIAL SERVICE BEING PLANNED BY ELKS LODGE

Past Exalted Ruler To Be Honored at Initiation Ceremony March 15

Plans for a special initiation ceremony honoring Dr. Edward J. McCormick of Toledo, past grand exalted ruler of the lodge, today were taking form at the Elks Lodge here, Eugene McLean, the exalted ruler, disclosed.

In recognition of outstanding services rendered, Elks Lodges all over the state are contemplating similar services in the name of Dr. McCormick, McLean said. The ceremonies here will be held on March 15.

McLean said he did not know

how many candidates would be in the "Dr. Edward J. McCormick class" here, but said the services would be among the highlights of lodge activities of the season.

Dr. McCormick who began his medical career in 1915, served as Major in the medical corps of the U. S. Army in World War I and was the recipient of the military cross of Britain in 1919.

He was the author of "Gun Shot Wounds of the Abdomen," "American Medicine at the Crossroads" and many articles in scientific publications. He was president of the Ohio State Medical Association in 1942-43.

His record of service to the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks embraced many positions, starting with his election to exalted ruler of Toledo lodge in 1927 and climaxing with that of Grand Exalted Ruler of 1500 Elks lodges in 1938. He now serves as Chairman of the Elks War Commission which has established fraternal centers for the entertainment of soldiers in various parts of the country.

stand then in their war with Japan.

However, indications are that both Stilwell and Nimitz can get supplies, so that everybody will be happy.

Assembly.

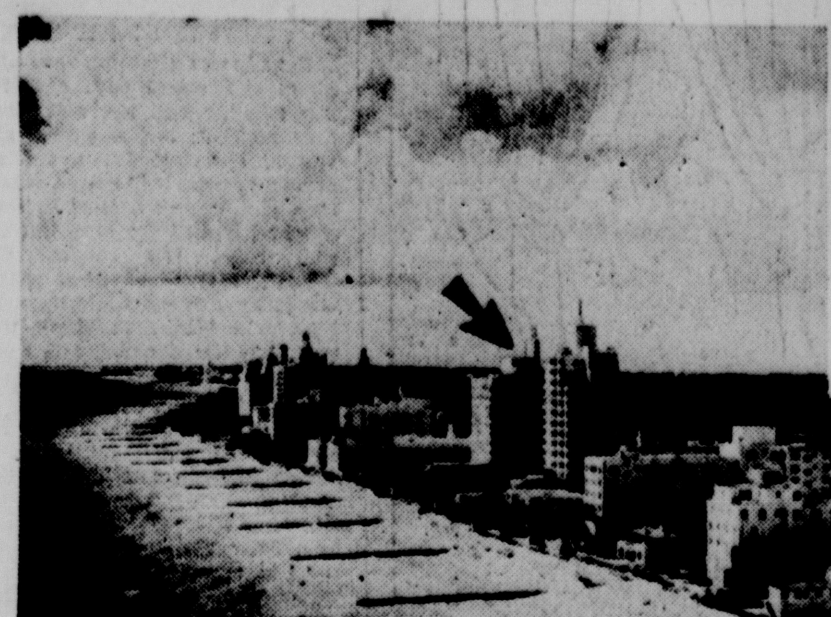

The assembly program was presented Wednesday in the high school auditorium, under the direction of Mr. Boring. Both the grade and high school pupils were present to see the silent picture, "The Life of George Washington."

Miss Thomas will have the next assembly on February 23.

Lincoln-Washington Birthday Tea Mrs. Dorothy Ulen furnished the program for the formal Lincoln-Washington Birthday Tea, with a patriotic skit featuring musical and speaking numbers by members of the fourth grade. This skit proved that talent in this grade is plentiful as from all reports they certainly "did themselves proud." Several high school girls under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Dunkel also took part.

Army's Test Tube For Demobilization

By HENRY C. NICHOLAS
Central Press Correspondent
MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—The Army Air Forces is experimenting in Miami Beach with an idea that is entirely new, an innovation in the pattern of war that has never been attempted before.

The plan was designed not only to increase the efficiency of our military forces, but also to thought that the experience gained through its operation might supply important lessons which could be utilized when the great day comes for the demobilization of the millions of American soldiers returning home with the ending of this global war.

The plan was launched in the summer of 1943 with the creation of the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2, which took over 10 fashionable ocean-front hotels in Miami Beach to house air veterans brought back from overseas.

To Establish More In addition, three smaller hotels were taken over for the staff members. Plans are well advanced for the establishment of similar stations by the Army Air Forces in Atlantic City and in a city in California.

By September, 1943, a steady stream of Air Forces officers and men began arriving at these hotels in Miami Beach from overseas, where they had been stationed for many months in the war zones in Greenland, Iceland, Africa, Panama and the Caribbean.

None of these returning veterans is a casualty. They had been selected to return home because of their length of time in action, their type of duty or for other reasons not divulged.

The commanding officer of the Redistribution Station in Miami Beach is Col. Luther L. Hill, who has an excellent record in both military and civilian life. He was with the Army of Occupation in Germany in World War I, and remained with the Army as a cavalry officer for four years after the war. He then resigned to enter the investment banking business and later became associated with a Des Moines, Ia., newspaper.

Immediately after checking in at one of these 10 Miami Beach hotels, the air veterans are given 14-day furloughs to visit their homes. Not until they return to the stations after these furloughs are they given a physical examination. Those who are found to need additional rest are sent to rest camps in North Carolina, Texas or Arizona. The others remain at the hotel where they bask in the sun, play golf or swim in the ocean and enjoy all of the recreational facilities of the Miami area like the winter visitors of former years.

Everything practical is done to make these air veterans feel they are honored guests of the nation. Instead of being housed, barracks-like, on the usual basis of 50 square feet per man, only two of the men are assigned to a hotel room.

Meantime Colonel Hill and his staff have started studying and reclassifying their guests. Some of the men may be found to be well equipped for the work they did, and all they need is a visit home, a short rest and relief from the tension of war.

Others may be found to possess

Colonel Luther L. Hill

AIRMEN'S HAVEN—Home from the wars, American flyers "rest up" in these palatial Miami Beach, Fla., hotels. Arrow points to Cadillac hotel, headquarters of Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2.

Some special ability which qualifies them for some more important type of work. These men are returned to the various theaters of war, rested, inspired and invigorated. Others may be selected for instructors or other duties in training camps in the country.

The remainder are scientifically returned to civilian life. If there is some work which the veteran is capable of doing he may be immediately given his honorable discharge. Others may be sent to school to learn a trade, if they are without knowledge of one.

Train to Become Civilians

Some veterans who show some particular aptitude may be assigned to specialized training schools, thus fitting them for professional fields in civilian life.

The number of veterans passing through this Miami Beach Redistribution Station for reclassification and the percentage being returned to civilian life are secrets known only to Army officials.

About all they are willing to reveal is that this station is an important test tube for demonstrating certain ideas, which may be put into execution on a vast scale with the ending of the war.

"In 1918, the soldiers were dumped back into civilian life," said Colonel Hill. "One thing is certain. We have learned enough so that it won't happen that way this time."

PUBLIC FORUM

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Record-Herald.

LET'S FACE THE FACTS

Why has Fayette County contributed only one-half of its quota toward the War Bond drive?

This county is one of the richest agricultural communities in Ohio and elsewhere for that matter and should be one of the first to be over the top. There is no doubt but that our agriculturalists are doing a fine job in helping to feed us and the armed forces, and are to be commended for it, however, since Fayette is seventy-five per cent agricultural I feel that they are doing only one-half a job. Many of them haven't purchased a War Bond and it isn't due to lack of money. It seems as though they are overlooking the fact that they too have an obligation to meet other than their chosen field of work. They too must invest their money in War Bonds in order to protect themselves, their farms and their liberty.

Farmers are not expected to purchase War Bonds to the extent of ten per cent or more of their income as a payroll deduction as are workers in other fields and are letting these other workers shoulder their responsibility which is not only unpatriotic but unethical.

Hundreds of Fayette County boys are in the armed services and upon whom rests the responsibility of winning the war by jeopardizing their lives to save us, our rights, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; can it be said that we are so selfish that we won't loan our money, at interest, to protect these boys who are protecting us?

The government is going to get the money to win this war so it's up to us whether we loan our money with interest or have it taken from us in the manner of taxation. Which do we prefer? Facism, Nazism, Anarchism or rights, liberty and happiness?

Let's face the facts—ten per cent is not enough.

Which would hurt the most, bullets, shrapnel, bombs or to do without an extra show, ice cream, drink or other fancy?

Buy War Bonds Now—You Can't Invest In Anything Better Than Yourself.

MEN NEEDED BY NAVY SHIP REPAIR UNIT

Two Years Experience in Trades Necessary

The Navy's Ship Repair Unit still needs men with skilled trades, men with two years or more experience as anglesmiths, blacksmiths, boilermakers, coppermiths, Diesel mechanics, forgers, radio repairmen, instrument makers and sheet metal workers.

Men between 18 and 50 are included in the age brackets for men in the Ship Repair Unit—the unit which puts ships back into fighting trim.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

By JAMES E. POLLARD
Copyright, 1943

Layers of History

In his well known book, "The Mind in the Making," the late Dr. James Harvey Robinson wrote that four historical layers underlie the brain of civilized man. These are the animal, the child, the savage and the traditional civilized minds. Generally the last predominates. This he described as a mind rich in a heritage of ancient tradition, that still accepts without reasons and is still bound by tradition and custom.

Tradition and custom are strong in the realm of the law. The common law was simply custom so generally accepted as to have the force of law. One legal custom which dates from earliest times is that of Public Notice: the right of all parties concerned to be notified of a proposed or pending action affecting them.

Like other customs, that of giving notice is so taken for granted among democratic people that its basic importance is often overlooked. Only by being vigilant in its observance and jealous of any encroachments upon it can the individual be secure in his rights and democracy itself survive.

POWER BROOM USED TO CLEAR SIDEWALKS

Following the heavy snow Monday forenoon, the city's power, rotary broom, attached to a tractor, was used in sweeping the accumulation of snow from the up-town sidewalks.

In some places, due to side-walks being over openings used for coal storage or other purposes, the danger of the tractor crashing through the walks was great, however.

Ohio Soil

That Ohio is a pretty good place to live can be deduced from a dry report from the Ohio Experimental Station at Wooster relating to agricultural tests conducted by that station in conjunction with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A lot of Ohio people will be interested in this report.

It is rather significant in view of a newspaper article by Roger W. Babson recently, which pointed out that care should be taken by people as to the kind of land purchased for farming because "all we are, except for our spiritual and physical heritage, comes from what we eat, drink and breathe." He interpreted this to mean that the soil in which our food and fruits are raised is of great importance in determining our health, intelligence and character.

Babson said the best trotting horses come from Kentucky because of peculiar qualities of the soil in the Blue Grass region. He said the best brains in these United States are found in residents of certain valleys of New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. This, he said, is because the soils of these valleys contain the needed minerals to make the best brains.

He accused the Department of Agriculture of avoiding discussion of the mineral content of the soil because it is a "hot potato loaded with dynamite."

Without mentioning Babson or admitting anything about a "hot potato," the Wooster station's plant physiologist submits a dry, factual report of certain experiments.

Corn plants grown in gravel cultures were supplied with large amounts of fertilizer, and grew normally to a size comparable to field corn. The plants then were dissected to reveal the chemical composition of the tissues.

Heavy applications of calcium doubled the calcium content of leaves and stems, but did not increase the calcium content of the grain at all. Potassium applications increased the potassium content of leaves about four times, the stems only slightly above normal, and the grain not at all. Fertilization with magnesium showed the same results, and application of nitrogen put only a slightly larger content in the grain, although the content in the leaf tissues was increased four times. Phosphorus applications increased the content in the grain to one and one half times the normal amount, the leaf tissue three times, and the stem not at all.

Thus, in the opinion of J. D. Sayre of Wooster, application of elements, if deficient in the soil, first increase the growth of the plant and production of the grain. If applied in greater amount than is necessary to give maximum yields, the elements accumulate for the most part in the leaves and stems and only slightly in the grains.

It's a matter of choice. Personally, we are going to stay in Ohio. And we're NOT

Some other fine old American institutions besides the national debt have been growing by leaps and bounds in the past few years. There's the matter of government records, for instance.

At the expense of a good bit of scarce paper, one of our congressmen has determined that, in the course of 150 years, enough of these documents have been preserved in the nation's capital to make a pile as big as the Washington monument.

And the payoff is that more than half of this massive collection is less than four years old.

Seasonal Coughs Yield Only To Time

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THESE LATE winter, early spring days are marked for most of us not so much by the finding of the first crocus or the umbra of the ground hog as by the hangovers of winter. Around most of the households open to me during this season the theme sentence is that wonderful first line in one of Ring Lardner's plays in which the curtain rises on a room in complete darkness and a voice says: "Who is that cough?"

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Those German agents, too, who throw the radio, the silver screen and the mystery magazines must be getting plenty of competition from whispering patients who have lost their voices as a result of colds and influenza.

The doctors are pestered as to what to do about these disabilities. There is one certain answer. Local remedies are of limited value. Over treatment may prolong coughs and hoarseness. But you will be well again, brethren and sisters. Be patient. Time heals. When Persephone her veil mantle spreads over all the quickening hills, and hangs her infant blossoms on the trees, and the glad earth caressed by murmuring showers wakes like a bride to deck herself with flowers—you will be well again. That cough will disappear over night. The whisper will be gone and you will leap and shout and clasp your cymbals and the great hills will echo back your voice.

Structure of Larynx
In the meantime let us look at the villain of the piece. For your chronic coughing and your hoarseness all originate in your larynx, your voice box, that thing in the middle of your neck, your Adam's apple.

Now the larynx is a very complicated structure. There are cartilages on the outside and inside are all sorts of strings and knobs—the true vocal cords and the false vocal cords with a hollow between them, and crevices all in and around these structures, so that the remnants of "that cold," or "that flu," or "that bronchitis" get in these clefts and alcoves and recesses and nooks and they spawn and breed and brew and mull in a sluggish fashion and they are very hard to get out.

They sulk in these caves and coigns and foxholes and pillboxes and defy even the swab of the laryngologist. But in the course of time they all stew enough in their own meanness to kill themselves off and a few breaths of nice natural warm air instead of icy irritating air, will complete the slaughter and you will get back to normal. That is why the trip to Florida or Arizona, New Mexico or California if your conscience will permit it in these days really does the trick.

Gargle Doesn't Help

A valued friend of mine, Dr. Wolf, recognized what he called Wolf's disease: it was a bronchitis followed by cough and hoarseness, and the feature which distinguished it and made it a special entity was that it didn't get well until the patient went to a warm climate.

For the stay-at-home there remains the gargle. Now I do not enjoy knocking an old pal, nor wrecking an ancient tradition, yet I have felt as insulted as if he had slammed the receiver at her. Again she had forgotten Richard Blythe. "Prism," she yelled into the air, "bring me some gargle." The Negro put her startled face through the swinging door, then took it back and arbitrated, "Keep that down to a second balcony scream and we'll talk business."

For a while the girl gazed upon the blankness of the door between

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX

MALLORY thought once of telephoning Richard Blythe and asking why he had not attended her first concert, but a glance at her watch, showing 12:30, made her decide against it. At first, when the mob of admirers dashed backstage, she had looked for him, but in the real rush, she forgot. Surely though, if he had been there he would have come backstage. She'd telephoned him first thing in the morning, she decided, and went to sleep.

She awoke to normalcy. Prism and Armando in the kitchen, their voices audible, but the words indistinguishable. The smell of toast, the whirr of a beater in the cinnamon chocolate. The strange street sounds of Mexico—automobiles, paper boys, peddlers outside hotels selling lace work, churros—a long, curved sugared sweet, the texture of a doughnut—and fresh strawberries, that rested on their own leaves in a huge shallow basket. The twitters of caged birds in the patio of the Monestecit. The sound of a fountain.

Mallory stretched happily, then recalled Richard Blythe's absence. She slipped into a robe and went to the telephone. But first she would telephone her manager.

"Sandy," she said a few minutes later, "let me speak with Tod."

Sandy giggled. "The imbecile," thought Mallory. Her opinion intensified with his words. "Tod isn't here, Mallory. He was up at seven and started back to Taxco."

"Back to Taxco?" she waited, then reconsidered. "How stupid," she said in a businesslike voice.

"I don't know," the accompanist said lazily. "It's only a hundred miles, and after all, it's several days until your next concert."

"I know when our next concert is. You don't have to tell me!" She hung up viciously, wishing the motion were a whip across Tod Patrick's legs. "The lazy lout," she thought vulgarly. "I'd like to make him dance."

A telephone rang. She located one and said, "Bueno!" as the Mexicans did. "Prism also now feeling very proud until Sandy giggled and asked, quite as if he had never been cut off. "Rehearsal today."

"No rehearsal! I'll be terrible and it'll all be Tod Patrick's fault. I have to be happy to sing well and he is making me miserable."

Her accompanist ignored the absurdity of her words and yawned over his words. Then I'll sleep until noon, dear. "This time he hung up in a perfectly mild fashion, yet Mallory felt as insulted as if he had slammed the receiver at her."

Again she had forgotten Richard Blythe. "Prism," she yelled into the air, "bring me some gargle."

The Negro put her startled face through the swinging door, then took it back and arbitrated, "Keep that down to a second balcony scream and we'll talk business."

For a while the girl gazed upon the blankness of the door between her and Prism. The telephone rang again, sparing her the humility of pleading with her maid.

It was Manuelita. "Mallory," she cried, "your reviews are superb. What does your nice manager think of them?"

"Since he is as ignorant of Spanish as I, he probably thinks nothing. Anyway, Manuelita," she said without undue modesty, "I am accustomed to good notices."

"I'm sure you are," granted the Mexican girl. She tried a different tack, a straight-to-the-point one. "How is Mr. Patrick this morning?"

"To find out, I'd have to telephone Taxco—the rat!"

The singer's vehemence, even to Manuelita's unsophisticated understanding of American slang, seemed stern. "Oh, you don't mean that, dear. He looks so sweet."

"Now, don't coo all over again about my manager."

"All right," said Manuelita quickly. Her voice had the smoothness of magnolia blossoms. "Isn't it singular, Mallory, that I am going down to Taxco today with Senorita Dolores? It is a tiny place. More than likely we shall see Mr. Patrick."

"If you can manage it," was on the tip of the blond girl's tongue.

Aloud, she repeated, "More than likely," in a dry tone. It suited her when her Mexican friend hung up.

"I could go to Taxco, too," she contemplated. "But I'll not. I'll stay right here in the city and have fun."

She went into her room and put on the same flower-print silk jersey that she had worn in Valles, with a little flower hat that looked absurd so early in the morning.

What if it did? She was going to be out so late that the hat would be in excellent taste. Never had she applied creamy makeup to her face so swiftly. Lipstick, comb, extra powder, all those things were in the fitted purse that she grabbed. And her favorite white orchid perfume.

She picked up her gloves and mink coat and was halfway down the small hallway when Prism saw her.

She'd thought her mistress was in her room sulking. To see her fully clothed, leaving her apartment, was a blow. "You ain't going alone," she boomed. "It's dangerous from the baboons if you do."

"I'm watched by deputados, Prism," she informed her servant for the first time. "Back to your chocolate and cakes, Prism. I'll get my breakfast somewhere else."

Striding along Avenida Juarez, she met Richard Blythe. Without preliminary greetings, she demanded, "Where were you last night?"

Her question was rewarded with a question. "The Smiths were there, weren't they?"

"Yes. What has that to do with it?" Comprehension lit her face. "Ah," she said softly, "they were out and you were in their apartment. But why again?"

"With the Mexican authorities last night, Mallory. Not just a solo job done by an American engineer. Oh, Mallory," he moaned happily,

"things are going to break. Sam—it was Sam," he said in an abruptly dire tone, "will be avenged and millions of other people. Everyone who hates the Axis. These cool looking Smith brothers are connected with a gang of German spies. We've found them on a lake near Pueblo. It's unbelievable. There they nest, with seaplanes and shortwave sets—oh, it sounds like something from a wild dream. We don't know how long they've been there." His voice changed. "But we do know how long they're going to be there."

"What will be done, Richard?"

"You won't get hurt, will you?" she asked fearfully. "I'm worried."

"Don't be," he chided softly.

"That is the reason, of course, that I cannot get interested in Manuelita, no matter how much you'd like me to. No marriages in this service I'm in. I'm not sure I'd marry Manuelita, no matter how much I might love her. Too involved, the customs and all such."

"I'm willing to chance them."

"Okay, confederate. Sorry I can't take you to breakfast, but I'm dashing in 15 different directions at once. Don't worry, though. Your guards are right back of you, by the pottery shop."

Mallory counted 10 before turning. "I don't see anyone except two dirty ponies selling soft drinks."

"We're teased," the girl realized. She had expected the men watching over her to be in stiff-looking suits and broad shoes.

"They were friendly last night at the concert. They sent flowers."

"They're always friendly. That's the trouble," he asked suddenly. "What are you doing out all alone this morning? I thought opera singers lay in bed with soothing food and newspapers on mornings after a performance."

"I'm too furious with my manager. I couldn't stay still. A deep breath shook her. 'I'd like to give him about 10 minutes of my time and best language.'"

"Why don't you go into his arms some time and see what happens?"

"Tod?" cried the girl. "Richard, you're crazy."

"Maybe." He swung off down the avenue, saying goodbye over his shoulder.

Mallory went the other way, her brow clouded as she pondered the engineer's words. And she had thought he was so brilliant. Of course he was, she granted, but to make an asinine remark like that. She paused before an art shop. Its window was filled with "nacimiento" representations of the newborn Jesus amid pastoral settings—with angels, the Christ-child, shepherd figures and sheep. They were made of wax and various materials. Although Jan. 6, in Mexico, was the date corresponding to Dec. 25, these replicas of the Christmas scene were every-where.

When she turned away from the window, Mallory's brow was again serene. But her chin was set. She walked into a restaurant, ordered breakfast, found the public telephone and called Carlos.

Understand Your Federal Income Tax

MEDICAL AND DENTAL EXPENSES

A limited amount of expenses actually paid during the taxable year for medical and dental care of a taxpayer, his wife or dependents, may be deducted from income in computing Federal normal tax and surtax (but not victory tax).

These expenses, after subtracting any reimbursements (from insurance or otherwise) actually received in the same year, are deductible to the extent that they exceed 5 percent of the taxpayer's net income before figuring this particular deduction. However, the deduction may not exceed $2,500 for a married couple or a "head of family," or $1,250 in the case of other taxpayers. The taxpayer is required to furnish the name and address of each person to whom the payment for medical expenses was made, and the amount and approximate date of the actual payment in each case.

The method of determining the deduction may be illustrated by this example:

Mr. and Mrs. A. file a joint return on Form 1040. Their net income, before figuring the medical deduction, is $3,000. During the year, they spent $500 for medical care of their family, but received $150 reimbursement from a health insurance policy.

Their medical deduction is $200, figured as follows:

Spent $500

Less insurance received 150

Net expenditure $350

Less 5 percent of net income before medical deduction (5 percent of $3,000) 150

Balance deductible 200

On Form 1040, the method of determining the medical and dental expense deduction must be shown in Schedule H on page 3 and the result entered in item 15 on page 1. On short Form 1040 A, no deduction should be entered, because the tax table on this form already allows the benefit of an average amount for such deductions.

The expenses which may be considered for this deduction are any actual payments made for the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease; also, any amount actually paid for hospitalization, accident or health insurance, anti-rabies membership in an association furnishing cooperative or so-called free-choice medical service, or group hospitalization and clinical care. These expenses may be deducted in the year actually paid, regardless of when the expense was incurred.

Amounts paid for operations, or treatments affecting any portion of the body, including obstetrical expenses and expenses of X-ray or therapy treatments, are deemed to be for the purpose of "affecting any structure or function of the body," and are therefore deductible.

Allowable deductions will be confined strictly to expenses incurred "primarily for the prevention or alleviation of a physical or mental defect or illness." This will include payment of expenses for hospital, nursing (including nurses' board where paid by the taxpayer), and medical, laboratory, surgical, dental and other diagnostic and healing services. It will also include the cost of drugs, and medical and dental supplies (including artificial teeth or artificial limbs), and of ambulance hire and travel "primarily for and essential to the rendition of the medical services or to the prevention or alleviation of a physical or mental defect or illness." It will not include funeral and burial expenses.

In general, all medical and dental expenses actually paid or reimbursed during the same year must be offset against each other in figuring the medical deduction for that year.

However, if a medical expense deduction is taken in one year, and a reimbursement for that specific expense is received in a later year, then the reimbursement in the later year must be added to the taxpayer's income in that year, instead of being used in the medical expense calculation.

Rotary Club Fetes Anns And Guests at Party at Country Club, Monday Eve

Approximately fifty Rotary members, their Ann's and guests assembled at the Washington Country Club, Monday evening, for the annual Rotary Ann party. As the guests entered the club house a huge red heart was seen, inscribed with these words, "Thru These Doors Pass the Loveliest Anns in the World."

At six-thirty o'clock the club hostess, Mrs. Hazel Devins, assisted by a score of her helpers, served a most delicious and appetizing three course dinner at numerous prettily decorated tables in the spacious club lounge.

The lounge was cleverly decorated suggestive of St. Valentine's Day and red and white hearts with clever verses printed on them were seen in great profusion around the walls. Over the open fireplace a large display of flags, representing the Rotary International was seen and a large cherry fire in the fireplace added a gracious touch to the gathering. Other displays of the Rotary International flags, representing also the United Nations were seen and a white canopy ceiling was also commented upon.

The tables where the guests were seated were prettily appointed with white and red tapers, burning and clever napkin holders suggestive of Valentine's Day were also used. At the speaker's table was a large arrangement of red and white carnations.

Following the congenial hour at the dinner table, president Carroll Halliday opened the program by introducing Dr. William Limes, who introduced the Rotary members and their guests. Mrs. Will Stinson was presented with a large box of cut flowers, as this was her birthday. It was also the birthday of H. O. Noland.

A quartette composed of Bel-ford Carpenter, Colin Campbell, Wert Shoop and Paul Fitzwater, introduced by Paul Fitzwater, gave a clever interpretation of "My Wild Irish Rose," but as this was a comedy rendition, several other Rotary members were called upon to assist them. Those assisting were Jack Persinger, Walter Craig, George Steen, Robert Willis, Glenn Woodmansee, A. D. Woodmansee and Ora Middleton.

Virginia Lightle, Harold Moats Are Married Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lightle of Madison Mills, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Virginia Louise, to W. Harold Moats, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moats, of this city.

The double ring ceremony was performed at Grace Methodist Church, Saturday, February 12, by Rev. George B. Parkin at three thirty o'clock. The young couple were attended by Mrs. Wilbur Snapp, sister of the bride and Mr. E. R. Moats, brother of the bridegroom.

For her marriage, the lovely bride wore a three piece pastel blue suit, with a shoulder corsage of red roses.

The matron of honor was wearing a gray two-piece suit with a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Lightle, mother of the bride, was wearing a blue jersey frock with a corsage of pink roses at the shoulder, while Mrs. Moats, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue frock with a corsage of pink roses.

The new Mrs. Moats graduated from Madison Mills High School with the class of 1942 and is now employed at the Aeronautical Products, Inc.

The groom graduated from Washington High School in the class of 1938 and is now employed at the Post Office here.

The popular young couple are receiving the best wishes and felicitations of numerous friends and relatives here and are at home to their many friends at the home of the bridegroom's parents on route three, this city.

On Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lightle entertained with a dinner party for the newly-weds at their home in Madison Mills. Those present with the host and hostess and honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moats, Mrs. A. C. West, Miss Jean West, Mr. H. B. Lightle, Mrs. Dora Summers, Mrs. Mable Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Earl Davis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Maryon Yeoman, Mrs. Leone Butcher and Mrs. Janice Snapp. The prettily decorated and appointed table was centered with a large tiered wedding cake.

Women Who Suffer from SIMPLE ANEMIA

Here's One Of The Best Home Ways To Help Build Up Red Blood!

You girls who suffer from simple anemia or who lose so much during monthly periods that you feel tired, weak, "dragged out"—due to low blood iron—start today—try Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS—one of the greatest blood-iron tonics you can buy to help build up red blood to get more strength and energy—in such cases.

Taken as directed—Pinkham's Tablets is one of the very best home ways to get precious iron into the blood. Just try them for 30 days—then see if you, too, don't remarkably benefit. Follow label directions. Worth trying!

Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS

Paul Fitzwater, assisted by the group of singers, sang "Girl of My Dreams," and then the entire group harmonized on "When I Grow Too Old To Dream." Colin C. Campbell then introduced Bel-ford Carpenter who sang, "Watching My Dreams Go By." The singers closed by singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

President Carroll Halliday then introduced Miss Doris Brandenburg who gave a reading in Negro dialect entitled "My Sweet Brown Gal," by Paul L. Dunbar, which was very amusing. She also gave a reading, "The Patch." Little Joan Campbell was then introduced and accompanied by her sister, Claire Frances Campbell, at the piano, cleverly rendered four novelty vocal solos. Two readings by Janice Murray closed the program. The first, in clever Negro dialect was "Croquette Conquered," by Paul L. Dunbar and the second in Irish dialect, "Specially Jim," by Bessie Morgan.

Group singing under the direction of Rotary Song Leader, Paul Fitzwater, with Mrs. Marian Gage at the piano was then enjoyed.

Introduced by Colin Campbell, the speaker, Rev. Fay Le Meadows, pastor of the Shiloh Congregational Church in Dayton, presented in an unorthodox and amusing manner his formula for "the essence of life."

The meat of his philosophy boiled down to learning to care, developing the art of serving life, being unafraid to feel and having courage.

"When people stop caring they start losing whatever they cared about," Meadows said. He spoke, too, of developing a deeper appreciation of one's work.

"It's easier to go to war than to develop our brotherhood—so we go to war," Meadows stated, as he spoke of developing the art of serving life.

"We must have courage—we must not be afraid to feel," Meadows said. "Wouldn't it be a fine thing to fight a war for humanity and lose the human touch?" he concluded.

Guests present with the Rotary members and their Anns, were Donald Brandenburg, Mrs. Elsie Hopkins, Mrs. Otis Morrow and Miss Bess Shoop, Miss Martha Berend, Miss Rosemary Dennison, Miss Jean Woodmansee, Miss Jeanne Wollard, Mrs. Porter Campbell, Mrs. Dale Ward, Mrs. William McCoy, Mrs. Jeanette McGinnis, Mrs. Judith Ann Cornwell, Mrs. Catherine Hyer, Mrs. Mable M. Markley and Miss Jane Ann McCoy.

Fayette Garden Club Meets with Mrs. Buzick

The Fayette Garden Club met with Mrs. Logan Buzick for the February meeting and there was a good attendance of members in spite of the inclement weather.

Mrs. Chalmers Kelly, the president, presided over the business meeting after which she presented Mrs. Ada Lanum, program leader, who paid a beautiful tribute to Abraham Lincoln.

She then introduced Mrs. Ilo Mark, who spoke on the subject, "Programs Planned by Garden Centers" and Miss Edith Gardner followed with a most instructive paper on the theme "Acid and Alkaline Soil; Their Treatment."

During the social hour, the hostess assisted by several members served dainty refreshments. Those assisting her were Mrs. Edgar Coil, Miss Clara Zimmerman, Mrs. Sarah Sollars, Mrs. Thurman Plummer and Mrs. Homer Miller.

Vocational Commercial Class Has Jolly Party

The Vocational Commercial classes of Washington High School held their Valentine party Monday afternoon and presented their instructor, Miss Helen E. King, with a lovely corsage of American Beauty roses.

Following the gay exchange of Valentines around the prettily decorated box, refreshments carrying out the Valentine theme were served under the direction of Miss Jane Cummings.

The Valentine box was cleverly decorated by Miss Dorothy Underwood and Miss Mary Rada-baugh.

Wedding Plans Announced By Marilyn McCoy at Party In Columbus on Sunday

Miss Marilyn McCoy

McCoy-Hall Vows To Be Exchanged at Country Club Here, March 7; Announcement Party Hostess Was Wilma Noble

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Marilyn McCoy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. McCoy, to Pfc. Charles Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hall of Lakewood, was formally announced at a pretty dessert-bridge party entertained for Miss McCoy by Miss Wilma Noble at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house, Ohio State University, Columbus, Sunday afternoon.

The wedding date, March 7, 1944, was revealed when the guests were given hand-made Valentines, the clever work of hostess which were adorned with a chicken wish bone and attached to this was a picture of a "Hall" by means of white satin ribbons and reading, "Mr. and Mrs., March 7th, 1944." This announcement came as a distinct surprise to the guests and the attractive young bride-elect was showered with numerous best wishes and felicitations. The wedding will be solemnized at the Washington Country Club.

An afternoon of bridge followed the serving of a dainty dessert-course and the St. Valentine's Day theme was again carried out. The guests were seated at perfectly appointed tables, each centered with arrangements of red roses in crystal bud vases.

Miss McCoy is vocational home economics instructor at the high school in Frankfort, having won a Kroger scholarship at Ohio State University, Columbus, from where she graduated last June. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Pfc. Hall is with the Army Specialized Training Program at Baton Rouge, La., and will be graduated in June. Before entering the service he was a student at the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, and attended the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., for two years. Here he became a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and was elected to Alpha Chi Sigma, national chemical honorary society.

He has visited at the McCoy home here on several occasions in the past year and a half and has made a number of friends here.

The guest list, numbering twenty-four, was confined to sorority sisters, including Miss Doris Jefferson of Bloomingburg, who came from Denison University, Granville, and Miss Mary E. Browning and Miss Casette Lar-

Future Teachers Class Meets at High School Here

The Future Teachers' Club of Washington High School held their regular luncheon meeting in the High School laboratory and the president, Nancy Lee James, presided at the business meeting.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved after which Jeanne Nomez gave a report concerning entrance requirement, expenses and requirements in teacher's training at Denison University, Granville. Ruth Ann Perrill gave one on Ohio Wesleyan and Marie Marchant explained Wooster College.

A revised constitution for the club was read and will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Plans for a party were discussed but no definite arrangements were made.

The officers of the new year are president, Nancy Lee James; vice-president, Barton Montgomery; secretary, Virginia Hodge; treasurer, Marie Marchant; historian, Betty Harper; program chairman, Connie Kaufman and Virginia Ann Bidwell and club advisor, Mr. Karl J. Kay.

Open Circle Class Meets at Home of Mrs. Leola Fogle

The Open Circle Class of Grace Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Leola Fogle for the February meeting and there was a good attendance of members.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Artrice Haynie and devotions were given by Mrs. Mary Parkin, who gave a synopsis of the lesson. The members found that this adds interest and zest to the lessons and the discussion following, gave them an opportunity to express their opinion.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. Mae Montgomery, Mrs. Pauline Kellough, Mrs. Fern Griffith and Miss Helen Glascock, served tempting refreshments.

Celebrated 30th Anniversary

Miss Elaine Templin was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Coil and was among those who celebrated Mr. and Mrs. Coil's 30th wedding anniversary during the weekend.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. George Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hirailler.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moyer, Miss Mary Carolyn Rhoades and Miss Margaret Ashley.

Miss Noble was assisted by Mrs. Bedell, housemother, in extending the many charming hospitality of the spacious sorority house.

Personals

Captain John F. Otis, stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., has been a business visitor in this city and other points the past few days and is accompanied by his daughter, Victoria, who is visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moots of Jeffersonville, had as their Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moots and son of Springfield and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fichthorn.

Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Henceroth of Grove City, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henceroth.

Miss Donna Jean Chase has returned to the White Cross School of Nursing in Columbus, after spending the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Chase.

Mrs. Vivian Baughn, Miss Edna Boyer, both of Harrisburg, Pa., Mr. Walter Bryant of Osborn and Miss Ruth Allen of this city were Sunday evening guests of Mrs. Donna Pavey. Miss Boyer remained until Monday when she returned to her home.

Willing Workers Class Of Staunton Meets for Regular Session

Mrs. Dorothy McDonald, assisted by Mrs. Edna Smith, entertained the members of the Willing Workers' Class of the Staunton Church for the February session with twenty-five members and guests present.

Mrs. Maude Leeth had charge of the devotionals and Mrs. Opal Wilson gave the Bible study.

At the close of the meeting, a light lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mrs. DePew Head Is To Give Book Review at First Presbyterian Church

A biographical review of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek in modern China is in store for those who attend the book review at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday at 8 P.M.

Mrs. DePew Head of Columbus, making her third appearance here this year, writes she has based her review on three books: "The Soong Sisters," by Emily Hahn; "Mei-Ling Soong Chiang," by Helen Hull and "The Changs in China," by Elmer T. Clark.

Marcia Highley Is Hostess at the Crusaders' Class Party

Miss Marcia Highley was a gracious hostess Monday evening when she entertained the members of the Crusader's Class of the North Street Church of Christ with a delightful St. Valentine's Day party.

Earlier in the evening, the president, Mary Jane Hyer, conducted the business meeting.

The remainder of the evening was gaily spent in enjoying numerous appropriate games, and a hilarious exchange of Valentine's was conducted.

Late in the evening, delicious refreshments suggestive of St. Valentine's Day, were served by the hostess.

CRAIG'S

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—(AP)—If it's free, what good is it? ... That's a question raised by Paul Krichell, veteran Yankee scout, who argues that baseball clubs have hurt themselves by admitting too many kids to games without charge. His theory is that the kids grow up to regard baseball as something they see free and they just won't pay for it. "Branch Rickey thought he had a good idea when he started the 'Knothole Gangs' in St. Louis," says Krichell, "but I can remember when we used to draw good crowds there and they don't draw them now." ... Marine Bill Veeck, the Milwaukee Brewers' president, led his platoon over the obstacle course at San Diego, Calif. "Obviously the obstacles weren't set up by minor league boss W. G. Bramham, who stopped Bill Gold last December.

The football Dodgers have just signed J. D. Langley, a tall, 215-pound tackle from Chattanooga University who has been coaching at Bremen, Ga. Langley looks like a wrestler, teaches art, writes poetry and has had one of his songs published. "Now if he can just play football," adds Coach Pete Cawthon, "we will have a colorful player."

More Fishing Waters To Be Open in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Feb. 15—(AP)—State Conservation Commissioner Don Waters reported today additional fishing water would be opened to fishing this year and more angling time permitted in a lake and a nursery pond. The changes: Shoreline night fishing along two areas of Lake Hope, Vinton County, formerly open to day fishing only, effective March 1. Spots Lake, Henry County, and Fostoria Waterworks reservoir, open to public fishing effective June 16. Brush Lake, Champaign County, open April 1 to Sept. 30. Zanesville Nursery Pond, open to public fishing last year one day per week will be open Thursdays and Saturdays effective March 16 to Sept. 19.

Waters said all Division of Conservation and Natural Resources lakes except Harrison Lake, Fulton County, would be open this season. All lakes turned over to the Division for Fish Management except Stewart Hollow Lake and Forestry Lake, Ross County, will be open. Waters said those two had not been stocked long enough to permit fishing.

Newark And Martins Ferry Basketeers Still Dominate Ohio High School Parade

By HAROLD HARRISON
COLUMBUS, Feb. 15—(AP)—It's beginning to sound like a tune from a broken record but if someone doesn't stop Newark's Wildcats and Martins Ferry soon it will be hard to overlook those two outfits in selecting the top favorites for the 1941 Ohio State High School Basketball championship.

There are a few schools, largely in Class B, which have won more games without a defeat than Newark.

NO DEFERMENT WANTED BY COACH PAUL BROWN; PROBLEM FACED BY OSU

COLUMBUS, Feb. 15—(AP)—Football Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State University, recently reclassified 1-A says he has asked his Massillon draft board to disregard the school's deferment request and "to treat my case just like anyone else's."

"I asked no one to request a deferment for me," asserted Brown,

$1,010,000 WON'T BUY DODGERS

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—(AP)—A bid of $1,010,000 has proved insufficient to buy a controlling interest in the Brooklyn Dodgers National League baseball club.

Max C. Meyer, Brooklyn jeweler, made that disclosure last night in announcing he and his associates had decided to drop their efforts to purchase the club because "we were confronted with the proposition of assuming additional financial burdens which we felt we could not take on."

Persons acquainted with the club's financial setup indicated he might have offered to pay $150,000 or $200,000 in upward salaries due several directors of the club.

The Meyer group had hoped to purchase 75 percent of the club's outstanding stock. Meyer explained they were ready to pay $260,000 for 25 percent of the stock held by the Edward McKeever heirs and $750,000 for the 50 percent held by the heirs of the late Charles Ebbets.

"That meant," he said, "we were putting $1,010,000 into the purchase, which is quite a lot of money."

Branch Rickey, president of the club, learned the Dodgers might not have the services of four players during the forthcoming season.

Outfielder Dixie Walker and Catcher Bobby Bragan, both of whom live in Birmingham, Ala., notified the Dodger front office they had been reclassified 1-A. Pitcher Bill Sawley has enlisted in the Army Air Corps after passing a pre-induction physical examination at Portland, Ore. Star Second Baseman Billy Herman has applied for a job in a war plant near his New Albany, Ind., home.

other Class A teams can offer plenty of evidence that they too will have a lot to say about the title but the Wildcats and the Ferrans are smothering all opposition with monotonous regularity.

They both picked up two victories last week to run their unbeaten strings to 16 each for this season. Thirty games now have been played over two seasons since Newark last tasted defeat; Martins Ferry's only setback in its ark or Martins Ferry and several last 40 games was at the hands of Newark in last year's state tournament.

Last week Newark thumped Dover, 43 to 20, and Zanesville, 44 to 26. Martins Ferry walloped Steubenville, 58 to 41, and Linsley Military Institute of Wheeling, W. Va., 64 to 33. In the Steubenville game the Ferrans came up with the brilliant feat of hitting 24 of 59 shots from the field.

Only once this season has Martins Ferry failed to tally more than 55 points.

All of the undefeated leaders apparently are ready, however, to start turning on the heat for tournament competition. They breezed through last week's encounters and rarely were they even pressed.

Just to mention a few, Enon ran its string to 15 by walloping Plattsburg, 54 to 30. Canton Timken, expecting a hard game from Canton McKinley, skipped through to a 38 to 25 triumph, its 15th in a row. Findlay chalked up No. 14 by romping over Dayton Roosevelt, 57 to 14. That was just another in the long string of fine defensive performances turned in by Findlay. In 14 games the team has yielded an average of only 23 points a game.

Toledo Devilbiss had little trouble getting its 12th straight triumph, beating Lima Central, 55 to 40.

Van Wert took a 62 to 36 beating from Bluffton but achieved something by holding the Pirates to seven points less than their average up to that time. Until Friday night Bluffton had averaged 69 points a game in winning 11 straight contests.

President Howard L. Bevis said the University would accede to Brown's wishes and withdraw the request made last week at the time of the coach's reclassification from 3-A to 1-A.

Bevis explained the deferment was sought because of Brown's contribution to the physical training program of the many Army and Navy troops stationed on the campus and "not because he is a football coach."

"I think I'll pass the physical all right," Brown laughed.

President Bevis said "this thing has blown up suddenly and no thought has been given to replacing him. We'll have to look around if Paul is taken for military service."

Brown came to Ohio State in 1941 from Massillon high school where he had coached a series of phenomenally successful teams. His 1942 Buckeye grid team won the Big Ten and National championships.

that garrisons on those islands may face starvation.

Knox said American bombers throughout the mid-Pacific are meeting only meager Japanese fighter opposition and light anti-aircraft fire, indicating the enemy is short of ammunition and planes.

In the South Pacific, he reported American Air Forces are "vigorously pounding away" at Japanese installations in and around Rabaul which he said has "practically lost its usefulness as a major base."

Knox, referring to them as "the humor department," quoted Tokyo broadcasts asserting that since the first of the year 1,065 American planes have been shot down in action in the Rabaul area. On the contrary, he said, our losses there "I think are approximately 30 or 40 planes."

Knox reported in connection with the Bay of Biscay embargo that he believed it would halt any attempt at smuggling goods into France or Germany from Spain.

"There has been considerable of that going on," he asserted.

PIGEON REFUSES TO LEAVE HER NEST

Keps Vigil Over Unhatched Egg in Blizzard

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—(AP)—The pigeon which refused to leave an egg in her nest throughout Friday's snowstorm and then abandoned the nest yesterday, returned to its vigil today.

The bird, stationed on a fifth story ledge of the Hotel Commodore, is receiving room service from the hotel—water and dry cereal twice daily. Originally there were two eggs in the nest. She hatched one Thursday, but the fledgling fell from the ledge.

A Bronx Zoo ornithologist said a pigeon hatching eggs at this season and in freezing temperatures was most unusual.

One of the outstanding individual performances of the week was turned in by Johnny Tillitski, sharp-shooting forward for Canton St. John's. Tillitski connected for 36 points on 17 field goals and two free throws, as St. John's rolled up a 90 to 17 count on Dover St. Joseph. It was the 15th victory in 16 games for St. John's.

Rosary continued to sport the top record in Columbus—14 victories as against only one loss—but the game that attracted the attention in the Ohio capital was the tilt between Bexley and Grandview. The boys apparently thought rationing had been extended to basketball points because the final score was Bexley 15, Grandview 8. Bexley got the only points registered in the entire first half—four of them.

Up in Lorain County, Eaton found itself in the strange position of having a county league championship handed to it on a silver platter. Eaton lost its final game to Ridgeville in the Northeastern division of the Lorain County Class B Loop but then backed into the title when Ridgeville had to forfeit the encounter because it had used an ineligible player.

Aside from Newark, Martins Ferry, Bluffton and the like, the other undefeated teams in the state still include Covington (16), Ashville (17), Tipp City (13), Cincinnati St. Xavier (13), Cincinnati Wayne (12) and Sabina (9).

And then there is Chillicothe which last week took a 39 to 19 beating from Lancaster—the 14th straight loss without a single victory.

Bad weather and a pair of forfeited games put a chill on the API League bowling on the Main Street alleys Monday night when the Foremen hung to their lead by winning the first two games with the scrappy Office boys before they lost the last one.

The Production Control team marked up three on the win side of the ledger when the Heat Treaters failed to show up for the regularly scheduled match. The Production crew got the same kind of a break when the tough No. 2 Inspectors team forfeited.

The No. 1 Inspectors team put a crimp in the aspirations of the Engineers by winning the first two games before they went into a slump and dropped the finale.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15—(AP)—Three members of a Navy gun crew on a merchant ship were under military arrest today on charges of robbery, assault and attempted rape in connection with an attack on Dr. Elmer Hutchinson Gillespie, 34, Boston physicians, and his wife, Ruth, 21, in Boston last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Gillespie obtained "John Doe" warrants here and, to identify the suspects, boarded the ship with police as it entered Delaware Bay. The Navy announced the arrests but did not identify the prisoners, who will be held until Massachusetts authorities ask Secretary Knox to transfer them to civilian custody.

Police said they stopped Gillespie's automobile, climbed in, attacked the couple and then fled, taking the car.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Feb. 15—AP—Selling by local traders uncovered a poorly supported market today and prices revealed more than a cent from the day's highs. The reactionary trend in rye also spread to wheat and oats which earlier, like rye, were firm. Great selling pressure in the wheat pit was absent and the down-turn came more from lack of buying interest, but while this was true the early rye market, fairly general selling came from professional operators later in the session.

Wheat finished ¼ to ½ lower than the previous close, oats were ¼ off to ½ higher, May 7½, rye was down ¼ to ½, May 1½, 2½, and barley was off ¼ to ½, May 1½, 2½.

ROAD BLOCKED BY SNOWDRIFTS MONDAY NIGHT

Highways and Streets in Bad Condition Early Tuesday Morning

Aided by the sun, application of cinders and scraping, the main highways of the county Tuesday afternoon were in good condition, according to reports from the State Highway Department here.

One crew worked until nearly 3 A. M. Monday night, battling a series of drifts that piled up on Route 70, between Jeffersonville and south Solon, after nightfall.

At one time the road was completely blocked some two or three miles northwest of Jeffersonville, and several cars were tied up.

A call was made to the Highway Department in this city and a shovel was sent to the scene, opening the road to traffic and then remaining on the job until 2:30 A. M.

Some of the highways were not scraped over the week end, and as a result became very bad. Scraping started Monday, however, and most of the roads were given attention during the day as the snow fell and the surface of some roads became glassy.

In this city some of the streets and sidewalk crossings were very dangerous over Monday night and for sometime Tuesday.

City Manager Walter L. Stambaugh had the street crew apply limestone sand and salt on some of the main streets and intersections and by the middle of the forenoon the streets and crossings were in much better condition.

$52.50 FOR LUNCHES AT MADISON MILLS

School Lunches Served Average 70 a Day

Receipts for school lunches at Madison Mills last week were $52.50; 15 cents each for the average 70 lunches served each day. Miss Mary Border, manager of the lunchroom, announced.

Expenses for the same period were $49.78, Miss Border reports. She is assisted by Miss Billie Lou Wilson, home economics teacher, who is cashier and Mrs. Minnie B. White, cook.

A typical week's menu—type A lunches served with milk—at Madison Mills is: MONDAY: Cream of tomato soup, macaroni and cheese, lettuce sandwiches and prunes.

TUESDAY: John Marzetti, slaw, brown bread and butter and applesauce cake.

WEDNESDAY: Creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, hot rolls and jello fruit salad.

THURSDAY: Baked beans, potato salad, bread and butter, graham crackers with peanut butter.

FRIDAY: Creamed corn, ham salad sandwiches, carrot sticks, and cottage pudding with chocolate sauce.

K. OF P. ANNIVERSARY TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Program at Jeffersonville for Observance

Sunflower Lodge No. 541 Knights of Pythias of Jeffersonville, will celebrate its 52nd anniversary Friday evening, at 8 o'clock.

The anniversary committee has arranged a program featuring Mack Sauer, widely known humorist of Leesburg as well as local talent consisting of singers and readings by some of the Jeffersonville school children.

All Knights, wives, Pythian Sisters, along with friends, are urged to attend. There will be a potluck supper served following the program.

Burial will be in the Good Hope cemetery under the direction of Cox and Parrett.

County Courts

ASKS FOR DIVORCE

In Common Pleas Court Lucille Hooks, asking divorce from Gilbert Hooks, to whom she was married in Newport, Ky., Nov. 9, 1929, charges the defendant with extreme cruelty, assaulting her and threatening to kill her. She also states that defendant threatens to destroy their furniture.

She asks that the defendant be enjoined from interfering with her in any way, and from destroying or disposing of the furniture, and for other relief. John B. Hill represents the plaintiff.

JAIL TO HAVE FACE LIFTED BY SANDBLASTS

Court House May Also Get Attention Later by Same Firm

The dingy brick walls of the Fayette County Jail are in for a face lifting that is expected to make the blackened walls "arise and shine."

For years the dingy walls of the county bastille have presented a most unsightly appearance, and when John Sivodon, of the Sivodon Engineering Co., Ashland, Ky., gets through with the work of sandblasting the walls, pointing them up and applying a layer of waterproofing, the jail is expected to present such a different appearance that it will hardly be recognizable.

And if the jail looks as good as it is expected to, the county commissioners expect to have the same firm sandblast the courthouse walls, point them up and apply a heavy weather proofing coat that will also greatly improve the appearance of the dingy-walled county building.

Cost of work on the jail is around $1,045 and cost of the work on the courthouse will be around $5,000—providing the work on the county jail proves satisfactory, it is stated.

Work on the jail will start within the next week or two, and work on the courthouse will follow immediately after that on the jail.

PIPELINE BREAKS; GASOLINE ESCAPES

Indiana Farmers Salvage Gas With Buckets

Farmers with buckets salvaged gasoline when it escaped from a break in the "Little Inch" pipeline near Batesville, Indiana, Monday, allowing the fluid to flow into a dry stream bed and threatened the Batesville water supply.

Repairs were made after a large amount of gasoline escaped, reports stated.

The line is now carrying gasoline across Fayette County at the rate of upward of 300,000 barrels daily.

MERCURY SIX BELOW ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

THREE PUMPERS NOW AVAILABLE TO FIGHT FIRES

Trailer Unit from OCD Is Ready for Use When Needed Here

This city's fire equipment is now capable of pouring upward of 3,000 gallons of water per minute upon a fire or series of fires, should it be necessary in case of emergency.

This is made possible by the new Civilian Defense trailer unit received from the government recently, which has been placed in readiness for use.

This unit can pump 500 gallons per minute at 120 pounds pressure from suction lines, and 825 gallons per minute at 120 pounds pressure from the hydrant.

The unit has been equipped with 800 feet of 2 1/2 inch hose, nozzles, suction line and other parts necessary for full operation, and it can be pulled to the scene of a fire behind one of the other pumper or behind a truck or automobile.

The unit also has ladders and will carry gas masks and various other pieces of equipment to make the unit complete in every way.

With the two regular pumpers which have a capacity of 750 to 1,000 gallons per minute, depending on whether the water is taken by suction from a cistern or from a hydrant.

The trailer unit is painted an olive drab and in reality is property of the government, and has been distributed to meet any emergency in case of bombing and fire by incendiary bombs, as well as for use generally.

FAYETTE YOUTH KILLED IN WAR WITH THE JAPS

Wendell Rolfe of White Oak Community Is Among Casualties

Seaman Wendell Rolfe, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Rolfe, residing in Madison township, between White Oak and Cooks Station, has been reported killed in action in the Southwest Pacific.

The family has been notified of his death by the Navy Department, but no particulars are available.

The Rolfe family has resided in their present home for a number of years, and Wendell attended school at Madison Mills.

He volunteered for duty in the U. S. Navy on January 12, 1943, and was inducted into service January 29, records at the Selective Service headquarters show.

He leaves many friends in Madison Township and the Mt. Sterling community. First press reports gave his name as Wendell Ross and his home as Mt. Sterling.

About one year ago a sister was fatally burned when kerosene exploded while she was at the family home and most of the family was absent.

Harold Rolfe, brother of Wendell, is in the U. S. Army.
